A Novel Approach (LANG15089)

8:30 – 11:30

DISD Service Center

Rooms 1-2

Audience: 3rd Grade – High School Professional Educators

"The single most important activity for building the knowledge required for eventual success in reading is reading aloud to children" (Anderson, et al, Becoming a Nation of Readers: The Report of the Commission on Reading). We know the power of using novels in our classrooms, but how do we do it? We want to share practical ways to integrate a read-aloud time, how to launch a new novel and improve comprehension and fluency. We also want to focus on using the RIGHT books to establish rapport between teachers and students and develop a respectful classroom community. Henriann Catteau and Jody King will lead this session. (This workshop will open to surrounding Grayson County school districts on May 8.)
